

The Miraculous Journey of Edward Tulane

GRADE 4 CLASS 7
ANGUS

/01 Book Description

The magical story of the adventures of a lost toy rabbit from a New York Times bestselling author, twice winner of the Newbery Medal. Abilene loves her blue china rabbit, but Edward Tulane is extremely vain and only loves himself. On a voyage from New York to London, Edward falls overboard and from there finds himself on an amazing journey. He travels with tramps, works as a scarecrow, comforts a dying child ... and finally learns what it is to truly love.

/02 Chapter Abstract

Edward looked up at the stars. He started to say the names of the constellations, but then he stopped.

“Bull,” his heart said. “Lucy.”

How many times, Edward wondered, would he have to leave without getting the chance to say goodbye?

A lone cricket started up a song.

Edward listened.

Something deep inside him ached.

He wished that he could cry

I HAVE BEEN LOVED, EDWARD TOLD THE STARS.

👍 Goodbyes should be done in advance, because there is often no time to say goodbyes. We should cherish every meeting and every goodbye.

/02 Chapter Abstract

I don't care if anyone comes for me," said Edward.

"But that's dreadful," said the old doll. "There's no point in going on if you feel that way. No point at all. You must be filled with expectancy. You must be awash in hope. You must wonder who will love you, whom you will love next."

"I am done with being loved," Edward told her.

"I'm done with loving. It's too painful."

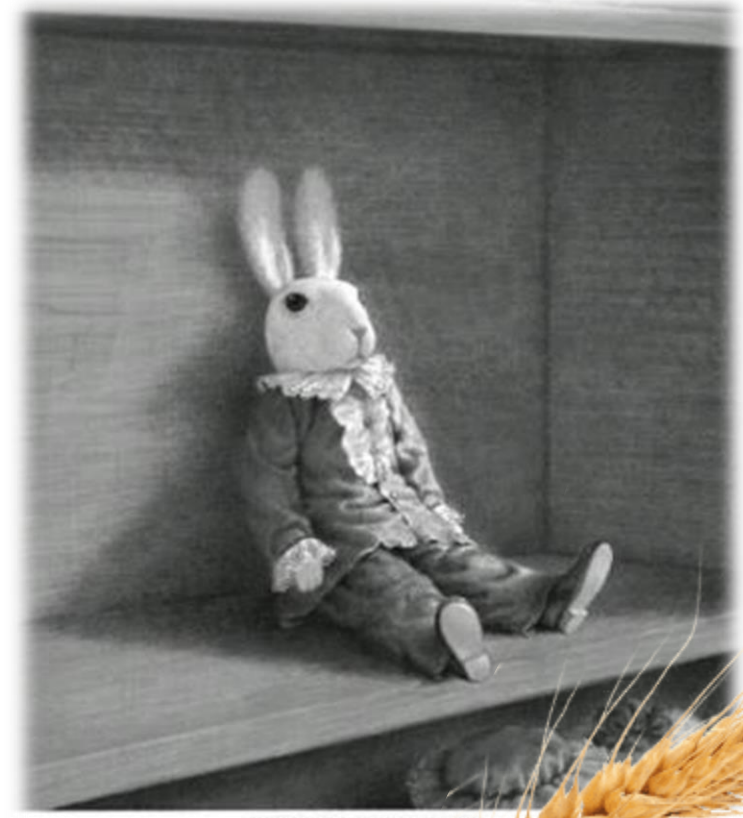

"Pish," said the old doll. "Where is your courage?"

"Somewhere else, I guess," said Edward.

"You disappoint me," she said. "You disappoint me greatly. If you have no intention of loving or being loved, then the whole journey is pointless. You might as well leap from this shelf right now and let yourself shatter into a million pieces. Get it over with. Get it all over with now."

If you don't want to love again, the road you have survived is in vain. So what's the point of living? Feel pain? And that's as it should be, because it's one of the proofs of your existence

EDWARD'S HEART STIRRED.

/02 Chapter Abstract

“Edward?” said Abilene.

Yes, said Edward.

“Edward,” she said again, certain this time.

Yes, said Edward, yes, yes, yes.

It’s me

“Open your heart,” she said gently. “Someone will come. Someone will come for you. But first you must open your heart.”

👍 You don’t want to worry people who are willing to listen to you and scream and cry.
In the end, we all learn to suck it up and call it growing up.

/03 Summary

I think children can start to hear this story when they are 4-5 years old. Because the youngest children involved in the story are four or five years old. At this time, they will hear the small child lost after many years to find the master's version. There is no reason for love at this age.

When you are 9 or 10, you should hear it again, especially how Bryce took care of his dying sister, how he was strong enough to live on his own, and how he chose between saving and possession. Love will give power to all these things.

Kids in their 20 years old should listen to Lolly's "mutilation" of Edward and reflect on themselves. When we all think we are grown up and can judge everything with our own logic, then we hurt a lot of people.

When a man feels that he is no longer growing up and full of wandering confusion, he can look at a homeless man with a dog. Love is simple companionship. Man is born to be loved, but if he is not alone, he will not feel loved, nor will he love others.
