

Baby and the Animal Olympics

The Animal Olympics were coming up and Baby Dragon was very excited. "Just remember that it doesn't matter who wins," said Mummy Dragon. But Baby Dragon was worried about something else... All his friends had decided what event to do. Wolf was doing the long run. Penguin was diving. Monkey was doing gymnastics. But what could Baby Dragon do? The Animal Olympics came around and Baby Dragon was sad as he had no event to do. But suddenly, a tall pelican came up to him and said, "Baby Dragon, can you light the torch for us please?" Baby Dragon was very happy. He blew the fire from his mouth and it was his job to do it every year. Baby Dragon was very happy for his friends too, who won their races, and he won his own medal for "The Best Fire Breather."
